About Us

Our Mission

We believe in raising avian awareness and helping people understand how to coexist with their natural environment. We wish our birds could speak to you themselves of their plight in the wild: of struggling to exist alongside cities with glass office building in their migratory path, of running into cars unexpectedly, of losing their hunting lands to subdivisions, of being misunderstood and shot at, and of extreme weather conditions. However since they can't, we have made it our ambition to do just that.

Education

We love sharing our bird knowledge! We offer bird shows for schools, senior centers, group activities and more. Give us call for more info and to get pricing and scheduling!

Adoption

Our goal is for every bird to have a second chance. We do adoption events through Petco and PetSmart to get these guys that forever home that they need!

Birdie Pedicures

Birds, just like people, have nails that continually grow. We always recommend you have a third party do your feathered friends' nails, beak, or wing feather trims.

That bond between bird and owner is very tender and fragile, and we always want the owner to be the bird's safe person.
